DEAR MEMBERS AND FRIENDS

The Trust's recovery from the COVID crisis began in 2021 with the reopening of our historic sites and resumption of public tours using safety protocols that followed CDC guidelines. Our on-site shops reopened and some in-person programs returned while others remained virtual. After several efforts to reschedule, Wright Plus resumed with a special September Housewalk that honored all 2020 ticket holders – a beautiful day well worth the wait. The Trust's Travel Wright program restarted after an 18-month pause with a popular trip to Wright's Fallingwater in October.

2021 Trust operations averaged 60% of 2019 operations, the last normal pre-COVID year. The Trust's second PPP loan totaling $535,000 – like the first one – has been forgiven in full. The Trust received a $180,000 grant from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) administered by the Village of Oak Park and a $100,000 grant from ARPA administered by the National Endowment for the Humanities to support arts and education at the Trust.

The Trust's recovery from the COVID-19 crisis is well underway with financial stability restored and a strong vision for our future in place. Thank you to my fellow Board members for their steadfast commitment and generous financial support, to our volunteers for their many talents and loyalty, and to staff members whose capable good work continues to carry all of us forward together.

John M. Rafkin
Chairman, Board of Directors

VISION

To preserve the universal value of the arts for all people.

MISSION

To engage, educate and inspire the public through interpretation of Frank Lloyd Wright's design legacy and preservation of his original sites for future generations.

DIVERSITY COMMITMENT

The Trust embraces diversity in all its cultural expression, particularly people of color and those who have endured discrimination, including but not limited to Native Americans and Indigenous Peoples, African Americans, Latin Americans, Asian Americans, Immigrants, Seniors, LGBTQ+, and People with Disabilities.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Wright sites managed by the Frank Lloyd Wright Trust in Chicago and Oak Park sit on the ancestral lands of the Potawatomi, Ojibwe, Odawa, Miami, Ho-Chunk, Menominee, Sac, Fox, Kickapoo, and Peoria Nations.

Today, Native peoples from over 100 tribes live in the Chicago area, one of the largest urban American Indian communities in the United States. Native peoples continue to contribute to the life of this region by celebrating their heritage, practicing traditions, and caring for the land and waterways.

In 2021 the Trust progressed toward normal operations in all areas, including on site tours and retail shops and signature in-person events along while restoring and rebuilding our staff and volunteer work force. The Trust’s museum reaccreditation for the Home and Studio and Robie House during the crisis set the stage for a healthy recovery and resumption of public programming the last week of January 2021.

The Trust established and published a Framework for Diversity that described our commitment to Diversity in Language: Using Expressions that Reflect Current Social Understanding and Tolerance; Building Awareness and Mindfulness of Social Diversity and Equity; and Speaking with Respect for all Peoples and Social Issues.

Diversity in Audience Development: Promoting Trust Programs in Culturally Diverse Neighborhoods: Offering Program Scholarships and Internships to Implement Equal Access; and Creating Programs that Reflect a Broad Social and Cultural Perspective.

Diversity in Policy: Aligning the Trust’s Vision Statement with Social Diversity and Committing to Diversity within the Trust Organization (Board, Staff, Volunteers)

An expansive new Vision Statement – To preserve the universal value of the arts for all people – expresses a broad 21st century perspective reflecting the Trust’s international reach. With a renewed vision, Trust education and enrichment programs for all ages offer opportunities to diversify participation at our sites.

“In 2021 the Trust reopened our sites and commenced recovery.

Reconnecting with our guests has been a joyful reunion, and we we look to the future with renewed optimism.”

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

Director of Development Tom Pierce

Chief Operating Officer Ahnquajj Kahmanne

Guest Services Administrator Daniela Blanco

As 2021 drew to a close, Trust development director Tom Gull announced his retirement. During his nine-year tenure, Tom expanded the Trust donor base, tripled the annual appeal goal, upgraded development procedures, and established a Legacy Society.

Tom Pierce, who served as Trust Assistant Development Director, succeeded Tom as Development Director. A graduate of Michigan State University, Tom worked in university development before taking a position as director of operations at History in Your Hands Foundation. After joining the Trust, he worked closely with Tom Gull on all aspects of development and led successful Trust major grant initiatives with the State of Illinois and Village of Oak Park.

Veteran staff member Ahnquajj Kahmanne was appointed Chief Operating Officer responsible for tour and retail operations as well as Trust IT Systems. Born in Aswan, Egypt, AK came to the U.S. at the age of eight with his family. In 2011, he moved to the Chicago area and joined the Trust, where he upgraded and expanded IT systems operations.

Daniela Blanco was named Guest Services Administrator, based at the Home and Studio. Trained as an architect in her native Argentina, Daniela arrived in Chicago in 1991 and worked with an international firm. She became a volunteer interpreter at the Home and Studio and joined the staff in 2012.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

Christine Trevino completed her eighth year with the Trust and was appointed Digital Communications Manager. New key staff appointments included Carl Tredway, Head of Facilities and Sarah Holian, Curator based at Robie House. Sarah is an art historian who also teaches at DePaul University.

To expand recruitment of volunteers year-round, an online orientation class was created as a convenient first step in the training process to becoming a certified interpreter at the Trust's historic sites, blending virtual with in-person training for the next class of new interpreters.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

With a renewed vision, the Trust education department relaunched in-person summer youth programs. The theme was Sound and Space: Designing Architecture with Music. Offered for grades 3-5 and 6-8, the art camps explored Wright's design legacy through the lens of music, movement, and acoustics. Trust educators and contemporary artists, architects, and musicians guided participants in making structures inspired by sound and music.

Teaching by Design, the Trust's nationally recognized program for teachers, created new lesson plans for the teachers' resource website. Professional development workshops in August and October guided educators through a creative process that introduced American art, design, and architecture into a classroom curriculum.

An Equity Scholarship Fund of $100,000 established by an Oak Park donor, supports the Trust's future vision of a learning center that will offer equal access to every child who wishes to participate in studio classes.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

In-person site visitation totaled 55,175, with 35,700 at the Home and Studio, 17,150 at Robie House, 1,950 at The Rookery, and 375 at Bach House. Unity Temple remained closed during 2021, reopening in May 2022. Virtual totals saw a striking rebound in Trust website visitation of 432,140, approximately 70% of a normal year, bringing the combined in-person and virtual visitation to 487,315.

The Teaching by Design website resumed full visitation of nearly 10,000 annual visitors, who use the lesson plans and other teaching resources available there each year. Grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and Terra Foundation for American Art have supported this nationally-known program and allowed it to flourish.

The Trust's popular online exhibition, 1905: Japan Through the Lens of Frank Lloyd Wright, continued to draw nearly 8,000 annual visitors. This exhibition of the Trust's collection of Wright's original photographs vividly reveals his fascination with Japan, beginning in 1893 at the Ho-o-den of the World's Columbian Exposition and culminating with his Imperial Hotel project spanning the years 1913-1923.

Over 12,000 visitors to the Travel Wright website, 80% of 2019 visitation, demonstrated significant interest in the resumption of the Trust's travel program, which restarted with a capacity fall 2021 trip to Fallingwater.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

In our preservation area, an important staff transition occurred. Karen Sweeney retired after 35 years as the Trust’s preservation architect. Karen worked on the original restoration of the Home and Studio under the direction of architect John Thorpe. She led the exterior restoration phase of Robie House and worked with Harboe Architects on the interior phase of work, completed in 2019. During her tenure, she oversaw numerous projects, including a restoration upgrade of Wright’s Studio balcony. She lectured on preservation topics, participated in panels on historic preservation, and served as the Trust’s primary educator on this topic. She will remain part of the Trust family in an emeritus role.

Preservation architect emeritus Karen Sweeney

Mary Brush, FAIA, succeeded Karen as preservation architect at the Trust. She holds an M.S. degree in Historic Preservation from the University of Pennsylvania and an M.A. in Architecture from the University of Illinois, Chicago. Prior to establishing her own practice, she worked as preservation director at Thornton Tomasetti, Klein & Hoffman, and Holabird & Root. She is a Richard Morris Hunt fellowship laureate with 20 years of experience in preservation architecture. Mary’s work has received national awards for excellence in historic restoration.

At Robie House, two plaques – one marking its National Historic Landmark designation in 1963 and one marking its World Heritage inscription in 2019 – were placed on the ground floor.

The plaque reads: FREDERICK C. ROBIE HOUSE as part of THE 20TH CENTURY ARCHITECTURE OF FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT has been inscribed on the WORLD HERITAGE LIST. Inscription confirms that this property deserves protection for the benefit of all humanity because of its Outstanding Universal Value. This property is one of eight that collectively demonstrate the qualities of what is known as “organic architecture” developed by Wright, which was a singular contribution to global architecture.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT & CEO

A special 2021 Wright Plus combining River Forest and Oak Park historic residences was held on Saturday, September 18, attracting 1100 guests. Homeowners had initially committed to May 2020 and graciously held to their commitments so that the walk could take place as originally planned. Volunteer Co-chairs Corrine Penery and Vicki Kwarciany were exceptional leaders who met the special challenges of resuming this event post-COVID and worked tirelessly with over 300 Wright Plus volunteers.

Wright Night, the Trust's annual benefit event, moved to December 2, and was held in The Rookery light court adorned with holiday lights and decorations. It also served as a wrap-up of the fall annual appeal. Wright Night revenue totaled a record $140,122 and our annual appeal also set a record of $183,985.

In 2021 the Trust reopened our sites and commenced recovery following the COVID-19 crisis. Reconnecting with our guests from across the country and the world was a joyful reunion. To our volunteers, members, and donors, we are ever grateful as we look to the future with renewed optimism.
