

WRIGHT AT HOME

Frank Lloyd Wright brought architecture and nature together by designing with natural materials and colors.

Explore the outdoors and see what colors you can find!

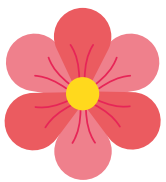

Take an empty egg carton and paint the inside of each cup with a different color. Crayons or markers work well too.

If you don't have an egg carton, print or draw a color wheel.

Head outside and explore!

Collect flowers, twigs, leaves, and other natural materials to match the colors in your egg carton.

- What colors can you find in nature?
- Which colors were hardest to find?
- What colors might you find in different seasons?
- Based on your findings, what colors would you use if you were to design a home inspired by nature?
- What nature-inspired colors can you find most easily in your own home?
